

Bloomington Normal Citizens for Peace and Justice seeks to promote peaceful solutions to local, national, and global conflict and injustice. We sponsor educational presentations, forums for free and open discussion, and community activities in order to foster debate and action, as well as engage our fellow citizens in the challenging and continuing work of seeking justice and establishing peace.

Since before the U.S. invasion of Iraq in March of 2003, BNCPJ has been actively involved in protesting the war by organizing local anti-war marches, rallies, vigils, and speak-outs, participating in larger demonstrations in Chicago and Washington D.C., and coordinating letter writing campaigns to political representatives. BNCPJ also hosts an annual Hiroshima memorial event in August commemorating the victims killed by the U.S. atomic bomb, and works with other local organizations to co-sponsor educational film screenings, speakers, and forums that raise awareness about peace and justice issues.

If you are interested in getting involved:

BNCPJ meetings are held on the first Sunday of the month at 4:00 pm. at the Unitarian Universalist Church at 1613 E. Emerson Street (just East of the intersection of Emerson and Towanda) in Bloomington. Peace & Justice Kids meets the first and third Sunday of each month to discuss current events and plan activities and rallies.

BNCPJ sponsors an anti-war rally on the 1st Thursday of each month at the Bloomington Cultural Center Plaza on East St. from 5:30 – 6:00 pm.

For more information about BNCPJ, please visit our website at: <http://www.bncpj.org/>

Bloomington Normal Citizens for Peace and Justice seeks to promote peaceful solutions to local, national, and global conflict and injustice. We sponsor educational presentations, forums for free and open discussion, and community activities in order to foster debate and action, as well as engage our fellow citizens in the challenging and continuing work of seeking justice and establishing peace.

Since before the U.S. invasion of Iraq in March of 2003, BNCPJ has been actively involved in protesting the war by organizing local anti-war marches, rallies, vigils, and speak-outs, participating in larger demonstrations in Chicago and Washington D.C., and coordinating letter writing campaigns to political representatives. BNCPJ also hosts an annual Hiroshima memorial event in August commemorating the victims killed by the U.S. atomic bomb, and works with other local organizations to co-sponsor educational film screenings, speakers, and forums that raise awareness about peace and justice issues.

If you are interested in getting involved:

BNCPJ meetings are held on the first Sunday of the month at 4:00 pm. at the Unitarian Universalist Church at 1613 E. Emerson Street (just East of the intersection of Emerson and Towanda) in Bloomington. Peace & Justice Kids meets the first and third Sunday of each month to discuss current events and plan activities and rallies.

BNCPJ sponsors an anti-war rally on the 1st Thursday of each month at the Bloomington Cultural Center Plaza on East St. from 5:30 – 6:00 pm.

For more information about BNCPJ, please visit our website at: <http://www.bncpj.org/>